MONSTER MASH (Happy Halloween)

Rutgers PBL volunteered at the 13th annual Monster Mash, a community outreach program hosted by Rutgers Residence Life and Recreation, that offers a safe alternative trick-or-treating experience to families within the communities surrounding Rutgers New Brunswick. Rutgers PBL was just one of almost 100 student organizations to provide fun & educational Halloween themed activities as well as candy and treats for upwards of 2500 visitors.

Members had the opportunity to give back to the New Brunswick community, provide fun activities in a safe environment for the children and families all while bonding with members of other organizations and PBL and earning membership points.

LEGACY REVIEW:

This past Wednesday, Rutgers PBL participated in the annual March of Dimes Date Auction.

This charity event spread awareness of the fight against premature births and all the proceeds went towards this great cause. Rutgers PBL is proud to have donated nearly $500 through the participation of PBL's own Sahithi Talagadadeevi, Sam George, Nimmi Penmatsa, and Manika Harikumar and thanks its members for coming out to support this great cause and make this another successful event.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

TIP:

Achieving a high level of productivity comes out of multiple factors including scheduling precisely, working effectively, and sleeping well. When creating a schedule, create tasks and deadlines that are realistic, but not too lenient, and focus your efforts on one task at a time. Breaks in your schedule are beneficial, but be okay with

LAST MEETING RECAP:

PBL members participated in hands-on activities teaching them the importance of personal finance, particularly the importance of budgeting. The importance of keeping close tabs on credit/debit card balances, checking accounts and investing in retirement was also discussed and members completed an activity that involved balancing a budget for various hypothetical scenarios.

NEXT MEETING:
